INTRODUCING THE JAPAN LINUX SYMPOSIUM - THE NEWEST LINUX CONFERENCE IN ASIA

The Linux Foundation is pleased to announce the launch of the Japan Linux Symposium, a brand new annual technical conference in Asia Pacific. The 1st Annual Japan Linux Symposium is taking place October 21 – 23, 2009 in Tokyo, Japan. The Japan Linux Symposium is co-located with the Linux Kernel Summit.

This is the newest Linux conference in Asia Pacific and it promises to bring together a unique blend of core developers, administrators, users, community managers and industry experts. It is designed not only to encourage collaboration but to support future interaction between Japan and other Asia Pacific countries and the rest of the global Linux community. The Japan Linux Symposium will be the showcase Japan and Asia Pacific conference for the Linux Foundation and we would greatly appreciate your support. We will not only bring together all of the top talent from Japan and Asia Pacific, but from around the world.

ATTEND THE JAPAN LINUX SYMPOSIUM AND BE A PART OF THIS COMMUNITY

The Japan Linux Symposium will feature over 75 conference presentations divided among five tracks and three audience types (Developers, Operations and Business), tutorials, BoF sessions, keynotes, roundtables, sponsored mini-summits and countless networking opportunities in developer lounges and evening events. The Japan Linux Symposium offers a unique conference experience that encourages collaboration, progress and interaction. With top notch educational content and collaboration opportunities, those that attend Japan Linux Symposium will leave more knowledgeable and better positioned for success in the year to come.

CALL FOR PAPERS IS NOW OPEN

We encourage everyone in the community who is interested in speaking to apply. There will be three different categories for submissions:

- Developer (kernel, core development, software engineering),
- Operations (sys admin and management, systems architecture, Linux migration and deployment)
- Business (open source governance, enterprise, ecosystem)

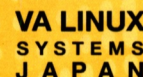

Each of these groups plays a key role in the Linux community and we want to make sure that they are represented at LinuxCon. The deadline for speaking proposals is May 1st.

REGISTRATION WILL BE OPEN JUNE 1ST
